Overcome Procrastination

~Worksheet & Checklist~

Brought to you by: Lisa M Cope
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

Print out this worksheet and checklist. Then use it to isolate, identify and define your procrastination points, habits and tendencies, as well as plan strategies to break them.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Steps to take</th>
<th>Actions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Assess your most common reasons for procrastinating:</td>
<td>Action</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ Perfectionism</td>
<td>☐ Write down what you can do to overcome each reason you check off:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I am afraid of failing</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I am afraid of success</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ The task is unpleasant</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ The task is too difficult</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I lack confidence</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I secretly resent having to do this task. Procrastination is my consolation prize or “reward”</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I can’t see either immediate rewards or long-term goals</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I have impulse-control problems</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I am unwell or have low physical and mental energy from some other reasons</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>☐ I have too much to do: I feel unfocused or confused</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

2. What negative self-messages do I give myself when procrastination has been part of my day?

- “I blew it again”
- “I’m never going to ___________”
- “All I know how to do is waste time”
- “I can’t do it. I just can’t do it.”

Action

- Write out a new, realistic and positive self-message. When you catch, yourself saying the old “message” because of procrastinating, tell yourself: “I don’t accept that” and replace it with your new message.
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>3. Make a list of tasks that you commonly procrastinate over and that you now feel you can and should outsource.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>□ □ □ □ □ □ □ □</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>4. Does “accountability” work for you? If not, determine what the problem or sticking point is. Brainstorm different accountability solutions until you find one that resonates with you.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>□ Accountability partner</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>□ Accountability coach</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>□ Accountability group</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>□ App-enforced accountability</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>□ Other ________________</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5. What are you doing to be more accountable to yourself?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
6. Revisit the “To Do” list tactic. Does it work for you? Let’s brainstorm the process and see if we can adjust it.

Create a “To Do” list of all the things that you feel you must do in an average day. Don’t hold back—list everything!

- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
- __________________________
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

7. Go through the “To Do” list you just created.
   - Using one color of highlighter, cross out everything you can just drop completely
   - Using a different-colored highlighter, cross out everything you can delegate or outsource
   - Out of the remain tasks, pick your absolute top 1-3 priorities
   - For best effect, make sure it is your “big procrastination point”

8. Find your “sticking point”—the moment when you bail out on a task and go procrastinate. Do your best to identify the exact trigger. Is it:
   - A thought?
   - A feeling?
   - A negative self-message?
   - The realization that________________________
     _________________________________

Write your answer in the right hand column:
Then brainstorm possible solutions to get you past that sticking point in future.

My To-Do List:

- _________________________________
- _________________________________
- _________________________________

My sticking point is:

- _________________________________
- _________________________________
- _________________________________

Possible Solutions:

- _________________________________
- _________________________________
- _________________________________
- _________________________________
- _________________________________
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

| | |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9. What rewards can I add to my daily routine?</td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. What big ultimate reward would make me excited enough to work towards?</td>
<td>□ __________________________</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

11. Reorganize your workspace!

- [ ] Remove any clutter
- [ ] Donate, give away or discard anything that no longer serves a purpose
- [ ] Make sure nothing in your work environment is:
  - [ ] Depressing
  - [ ] Distracting
- [ ] Make sure you place at least one symbol of success or inspiring object in your field of vision (or on your desk!)

12. Determine what planning or organization tools and resources you need:

- [ ] Schedulers
- [ ] Timers
- [ ] Time trackers
- [ ] Calendars
- [ ] Blogging aids
- [ ] Templates
- [ ] Virtual assistant
- [ ] _____________________________
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

☐ I have examined and identified my:

☐ Most common reasons for procrastination

☐ Most common ways I procrastinate

☐ When I procrastinate

☐ Other________________________________________

☐ I understand that procrastination involves changing habits and re-programming neural pathways

☐ I am using the “sticky note” method to retrain my neural pathways, using them as prompts for changing habits

☐ I am color-coding my sticky note reminders in order of priorities

☐ I have identified tasks I habitually procrastinated that can be outsourced:

☐ __________________________________________

☐ __________________________________________

☐ __________________________________________

☐ __________________________________________

☐ I have identified my unique Accountability tactic:

☐ An Accountability partner or mentor

☐ An Accountability Group

☐ A buddy

☐ A tracking program or app

☐ Other________________________________________

☐ I am helping myself to be accountable to myself, too, with strategies such as:
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

☐ Reminders

☐ Prompts

☐ Night-before preparation

☐ Getting the right tools together

☐ Other_____________________________________________________

☐ I have considered using a simplified “To Do” list

☐ I am focusing on tackling my biggest procrastination point—and only that—before adding more tasks to my “To Do” list

☐ I have found the perfect app or paper system for creating a “To Do” list I will actually enjoy using

☐ I understand the Zeigarnik effect and how it feeds procrastination

☐ I am learning to identify my procrastination points:

☐ _______________________________________________________

☐ _______________________________________________________

☐ _______________________________________________________

☐ I am looking for ways to make it easy and rewarding to replace procrastination habits

☐ I am building rewards into my daily tasks—especially those ones I tend to procrastinate over

☐ I am learning to identify “cascade failures” caused by small procrastinations—and their negative consequences

☐ I have created or re-vamped my work space and personal environment by:
7 Ways to Overcome Procrastination

☐ Removing desk clutter

☐ Re-organizing and/or decluttering my office/work area

☐ Re-arranging anything that is obstructing flow or causing my environment not to function pleasantly

☐ Adding something that feels like a reward (e.g. a vase of fresh flowers weekly)

☐ Other________________________________________________________

☐ I am starting to build new neural pathways to good habits and overcome procrastination by taking that first step now!

Kick procrastinations butt…. You Can Do IT!

I hope that you can put this printable worksheet and checklist to good use. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions about using it.

You can reach me at:
http://lisamcope.com/help

Wishing you much success,
Lisa M Cope
http://lisamcope.com